I would hope that you would continue your courageous efforts against the criminal enterprise known as MS.

I was surprised that the JOD case made it as far as it did; not surprised that the current administration wants to offer them a wet kiss as a penalty.

Shouldn't this be a RICOH prosecution for racketeering? Maybe i've been watching too much Law & Order, but if someone tries to compel you to use their flavor or else, isn't that the same as the mob compelling corner store owners to sell their cigarettes? Wouldn't it be interesting if white college brats who end up crooks were held to the same legal standard as uneducated, swarthy Mediterranean wise guys?

Go for the throat; this is how you make your bones!
